

What to Expect When You're Expecting... a High School Freshman! A Parent to Parent Discussion

Are you worried about how your child will handle the transition to high school? Who will they be friends with? Will they be overstressed? Will they participate in unhealthy activities? Maybe you don't know what to fear, but you still have fear, fear of the unknown.

As parents of current high schoolers, we know how stressful the transition to high school can be, not just for the students but also for us parents. And we want to help.

Join us at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 2nd for a roundtable discussion led by parents of current high schoolers for parents of incoming 9th graders. There will be no school officials or authority figures. Just us parents sharing our experiences. We'll focus less on academic concerns and more about social issues, but no topic is off limits. Light refreshments will be served!

When: 7:00 p.m., Thursday, May 2nd

Where: Historical Building,
Shrewsbury Borough Municipal
Complex, 419 Sycamore Avenue

Cost: FREE! We only ask that you come back next year and pass on your knowledge to the parents of incoming freshman. We hope for this to be an annual event.

Registration is not required but please RSVP to shrewsburyalliance@gmail.com so we know how many people to expect.

If you have a topic you'd like to make sure is discussed, send us an email at shrewsburyalliance@gmail.com. If you'd prefer to remain anonymous, let us know.
